Re: Return to Compliance

Dear Mr. Eberts:

Thank you for your recent responses to Ohio EPA's October 27, 2009 Notice of Violation letter.

On November 19, 2009, you contacted me indicating that all CRO-regulated materials at Waldron Lumber Company had been removed from the site approximately three weeks prior to your receipt of Ohio EPA's letter. All drums, containers, and tanks containing substances regulated under SERC requirements and CRO rules that were on-site, including the two diesel fuel tanks, have been removed.

Since all CRO-regulated materials have been removed from the site, Waldron Lumber Company has returned to compliance with the CRO laws of ORC §3752.06 and ORC §3752.07, as well as OAC Rule 3745-352-20 and OAC Rule 3745-352-30.

On December 4, 2009, you submitted the following documentation:

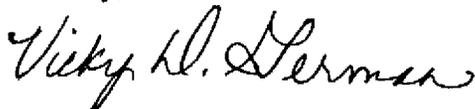

- evaluation of on-site wastes using generator process knowledge;
- receipt for off-site disposal of 796 gallons of used oil and 150 gallons of oily-water mixture;
- receipt for off-site disposal of scrap tires;
- empty 55-gallon drums and scrap metal;
- explanation of storage of batteries, etc.; and
- photographs demonstrating site clean-up activities.

A review of the documentation you submitted, and a follow-up site visit conducted by Ohio EPA on December 16, 2009, shows that Waldron Lumber Company has abated all violations that were discovered during the September 24, 2009 hazardous waste inspection.
