Re: Allen Milk Company, A Division of T. Marzetti Company / Franklin County
Complaint Investigation
Industrial Storm Water Permit 4GR00065*DG

Dear Mr. Wallace:

This letter is written in regard to the storm water complaint investigation that I conducted at Allen Milk Company, A Division of T. Marzetti Company, located at 1709 Frank Road in Columbus, Ohio. The investigation was conducted on February 17, 2010, as a result of a complaint that alleged your company was illegally disposing of palm kernel oil to a storm water drain. You stated that your company does not use palm kernel oil at this location. Milk, sour cream and soybean oil were the main ingredients of your products. We walked around the perimeter of the building and inspected loading/unloading areas and storm water drains at your facility. I have attached a picture of the soybean unloading area. There appeared to be no discharge from the unloading operation or discoloration of the snow. Snow cover was deep on non-parking and unpaved areas. There was no evidence of pollutants discharging to storm water drains or to waters of the state. Overall the facility was well kept. I had previously conducted an inspection at your facility on January 20, 2010 and did not note any discharges to storm waters. Thank you for your time and consideration during the investigation of this complaint. No evidence was found to support the complaint of a discharge to a storm water drain.

If you have any questions regarding this letter or my inspection, please do not hesitate to contact me at our Central District Office at 614-728-3851.

Sincerely,
