Mr. John Miller
6720 Columbus Road NE
Louisville, OH 44641-9086

Re: OPEN BURNING IN RESTRICTED AREAS

Dear Mr. Miller:

Your address, as shown above, is in what Ohio EPA defines as a "restricted area". Per Ohio Administrative Code (OAC) 3745-19-01, the definition of an unrestricted area is:

- a. At least one mile from municipalities of 10,000 persons or more.
- b. At least 1000 feet from municipalities of 1,000 to 10,000 persons.

Your residence is within the one mile zone from Louisville. This may not have always been the case, but many cities, over time, have expanded their boundaries through annexation.

It is my understanding a wooden building on your property caught fire and per our telephone conversation of July 23, 2007, that you want to dispose of the unburnt portion of the building by open burning. Please be advised that residents of restricted areas may not dispose of waste material by open burning. I stated this during our telephone conversation and I enclose copies of OAC 3745-19-01 and -03 for your reference.

OAC 3745-19-03 (A) prohibits open burning. Then it goes on to give exceptions in parts (B), (C), and (D). You may notice that one of these, 3745-19-03 (B) (3) allows open burning of agricultural waste in restricted areas, but the definition of "agricultural waste" in 3745-19-01 specifically excludes buildings.

However, it is also my understanding that your property consists of a number of acres. If it is possible for this fire to be on a location on your property that is at least one mile from the Louisville city limits, and you can demonstrate that prior to lighting the fire, then this Agency would consider that location to be in an unrestricted area. The applicable regulation then would be OAC 3745-19-04 (enclosed) and the fire would be legal under 3745-19-04 (B) (3).

Mr. John Miller
July 25, 2007

Please note that there would be five conditions for this fire, including a requirement that the fire be at least one thousand feet from the nearest occupied building off your premises.

You are advised that this Agency presently considers you to be in a restricted area and if you burn this material, you will be in knowing and willful violation of Ohio EPA regulations and you will open yourself to enforcement action.

Should you have any questions regarding this letter and the conditions specified within, please contact me at 330-489-3385.

Sincerely,

Gregory A. Clark, CHMM, CAHES
Air Pollution Control Engineer
